

A simulation study and mechanical structures of the silicon charge detector for preACCESS-CREAM

현호정¹, 박환배², 김영진², 박일홍¹, 손재현¹, 양종만¹, 민경욱³, 선광일⁴
¹이화여자대학교, ²경북대학교, ³KAIST, ⁴천문연구원

One of main purposes of the preACCESS-CREAM experiment is to observe cosmic ray spectral features and abundance charges related to a supernova acceleration limit. The silicon charge detector will be used for particle identification. A simulation study results of the silicon PIN diode and mechanical structures of the silicon charge detector will be presented.